CAMPBELL & M'DERMOT,

The suicide of Preston King, yesterday, Collector of the Port of New York, one of the most responsible and lucrative positions in the country, will be a matter of melancholy surprise to all who have ever known anything of the strong and interesting characteristics of the man. No man among all our public mean understood the rebellion better at its outset, and no Senator in Congress qualled less in view of its threatening presence in that body than Preston King. He confronted it, defied it and urged war upon it first, last and all the time.

The Richmond Whig is as firmly convinced as it was in the palmy days of slavery that there is no dependence to be placed on the labor of the free negroes. But in setting forth with emphasis its views on that subject, it gives expression to some opinions, which have heretofore been considered heretical in the South. When the cotton of the most responsible and lucrative positions in the terrible burden of the sth inst. we learn that the time of the son it is country, where we certainly expected no ticket has been successful in Fayette county, where we certainly expected no ticket has been successful in Fayette county, where we certainly expected no ticket has been success, and that Weeley J. Farr is elected delegate; G. M. Blume, Clerk and J. W. Hoge, Attorney. The election of Workman (Radieal Union) is confirmed in Boone county.

There is a general breaking up of the month having received orders to turn of the time.

The Richmond Whig is as firmly convinced as it was in the palmy days of slavery that there is no dependence to be placed on the labor of the free negroes. But in setting forth with emphasis it a views on that subject, it gives expression to some opinions, which have heretofore been considered heretical in the South. When the cotton THE sulcide of Preston King, yester-

have heretofore been considered hereti-cal in the South. When the cotton Ws have rolled the terrible burdeno planters were endeavoring to show that slave labor was absolutely necessary to the cultivation of crops in the South, have been raging there for months. A the cultivation of crops in the South, and so was, as they said, ordained by Heaven, they used to reiterate in every possible form the declaration that white men could not endure the labors of the field under the fervid sun of the field under the fervid sun of the could State. In wain we pointed them Gulf States. In vain we pointed them Peru, after surrendering ignobly to to the undeniable fact that some poor Spain, is rent with evil commotions. white men did laborout of doors in that warm climate without serious injury to their constitutions. It was accepted as proved that white men would perish, if they were forced to work in the cotton that white men would had therefore they were forced to work in the cotton that the cotton that the cotton is a contract of the contract o they were forced to work in the control of the cont hear what the Whig says:

hear what the Whig says:

"White men, it seems, cannot cultivale cotton! This is one of those maxims which have grown into axioms in the South, and which, in reality, stand upon no foundation whatever. In like manner we were told, five years ago, that the Northern soldier could not stand the climate of the South; as if Great Britain, situated five degrees farther north than New England, had not had a military force in Jamslea for two hundred years—as it it had not be farther north than New England, had not had a military force in Jamslea for two hundred years—as it it had not kept a large army in India for one hundred years—as if it had not a standing force on the Red Bea—as if it had not kept a regiment or two in Java for fifty years, and two or three battalions in Borneo for the last five and twenty! We see, notwithstanding, that the Federal army did live in the South, and that a portion of it is still there. In the same way this white man cotton argument, will be southered to the winds. We stated the other day, and we now repeat, that in Texas, after the abolition of alavery by the Republic of Mexico—while it was still under the raile of that Republic—white men from all parts of the United States did make cotton, and large quantities of it. Why, then, in the words of Sam Patch, "may not some things be done as well as others?" Why may not the present generation of white men cultivate cotton as successfully as the generation which is passed?"

we had cited for years, those are the very arguments, with which we had plied the south in vain. Evidently, the war has done something to open the eyes of the southerners. It has taught them something new respecting the physical ability of the whites, if it has not taught them all they have to learn con cerning the blacks. They have not onerty, that a large number are compelled to choose between labor and starvation. tempt for physical toll, have turned their attention to honorable and labori-

They must lay aside their notions of caste. They must sestablish free schools where there are none. They must permit far wider liberty of speech than they have ever yet allowed. They must in fact change their aristocratic local and customs for democratic notions and institutions. Until they show that they are really willing to do this, they cannot expect to compete with the thrifty free States of the West in attracting emigration.

January last, over $20,000,000 in category of the annual coin interest charge on the funded debt of the nation, as the officeal account stood at the first of the mination of the institution everywhere the field account stood at the first of the under the folds of the national flag; but the folds of the national flag; and the first of the national flag; the content of the national flag; the national flag is not month. The income from internal revenue and the month the income from internal revenue last week averaged $1,140,000 a day, or about $3,000,000 a week. The total receipts from this source, thus far in current fiscal year, commencing 1st, amounts to $138,000,600, or equal to a weekly average of about $7,-263,000, which carried through the whole fiscal year, yields an income of whole facal year, yields an income of nearly $378,000,000. This would be a much better statement, if it was not offset by another, which we hope is exeggerated, that the Government is now paying for an army numbering lish bar, in order to resume the practice of his profession in London or Liverness up an army of over 40,000 or 50, 100 in a time of peace,—the fact is a percentage of the profession in London or Liverness, and the Government enlisted for the resumption of specie payments.

Peru, to coal in their ports. The Chili-ans showed more spirit in opposing the aggressions of Spain against Peru than Peru did berself. We have no doubt that they will with energy maintain their position now. The spirit of folly must have taken possession of the Spanish government. They have been compelled to give up the war with St. Do- grapes. mingo, because it drained their treas-ury. How then can they undertake to go to war with Chili, which is fall of activity and determination? Some have supposed that the hand of Napoleon is in these attempts of Spain against the powers on the western coast of South America. But whatever be the cause, we believe that Spain will yet rue the day that she began her aggressions on Chili. The sympathy of this country continues active and 7 per cent is still the ruling rate for loans on call, though large transactions with government securities as collatorals are sometimes made at 6 per cent. The discount rates for business paper range from 7 to 12 per cent. There is increased animation in every department of business; manu-facturers are over-run with orders for goods, merchants are puzzled to wait B., upon their customers who present them_ selves cash in hand, the railroads are sweating and groaning over tons of freight that they cannot possibly carry and so on through the chapter. Th country is great and growing; the field white men must work. So many of them have been stripped of their property, that a large number are compelled. to choose between labor and starvation. It was a mere shanty, in the windows of which was the announcement, "Liberal prices would be paid for new or second hand clothing, that gentlemen would be waited upon at their residences by the proprietor, and ladies by his wife." This, with the evidence of the Revenue Collector of the District, caused the jury to make short work of the case, and render a verdict for the defendants. The Collector testified that the day before the accident the plaintiff had made out that all his worldly property consisted of nine hundred dollars' work of old clothes.

A letter from Texas says: The Germans of Texas—and there are some fifty thousand of them—were loyal to the Union almost to a man. Many were torn away by conscription, many their sitemilon to benorable and laborious pursuits which they once deemed it humiliating to follow. The majority of them still hold to their old notions too strongly and cherish their old spirit. But much has been gained. Some of the southern journals by not disgraceful for intelligent and cult vated men. There is progress for you. There is a discovery, full of promise for the south. Maving determined that white men can labor in the south, that it is not disgraceful for intelligent and contracts with it are invalid, and the original owners. The argument is very provision have made a great advance on their old position.

One at least of the Southern journals has argued with correctness that there need be no fears of a surplus of labor in the South, white labor will be required. The submore labor may be contracted under of culture will furnish employment for a much larger populatian. We hope to see tens of thousands of staiwart is beoring men going in to occupy the South and more fully develope its resources. We fear, however, that a large part of the Southerners, do not yes fully appreciate the necessity of complying with the only conditions on which white labor will come to them room other parts of the world and particularly from the North. The Resismond discussion over the fall in Government securities, in view of the large revenues received daily and monthly for a long time past. These receipts are for the week ending Nov. 10th, in customs revenue at the port of New York alone $2,265,000, making a total of something over $50,000,000 in colon derived from this source since the ist of January last, over $20,000,000 in excess the subject which state by its Convention recognizes the destruction of slavery, for that has no operative effect. It is not enough that each southern state of months source since the last of January last, over $20,000,000 in excess the power which destroys may create the subject within State control, and the power which destroys may create prisoner to the Union:

"A terrible freebrand was thrown into the Lower Houses a few days since, in the January into the Lower Houses a few days since, to collector testified that the day before the accident the plaintiff had made out the Lower Houses a few days since, to collector testified that the day before the accident the plaintiff had made out the law and made out the law property consisted the accident the plaintiff had made out the sample of a colored soldier, with his bayonet, to guard a criminal who clothers.

The Boston Journal justly remarks the fall his bevinet the subject within State each Southern State by its Convention recognizes the destruction of slavery, for that has no operative effect. It is not enough that each soldier stood at parade rest inside the soldier stoo of the House. Explanation by the unfortunate recipient of the aforesaid prisoner's visit, to the effect that the soldier was there in the simple performance of his duty, and by the request of the prisoner himself, was of no avail. The Speaker declared upon his word of honor, and by the high position he occupied, that This House shall not sgain suffer such an indignity, particularly from a United States soldier. "

The promulgation of the findings of the court-martial that tried Emerson Etheridge, shows that he was acquitted, though found gullty of several of the charges and specifications. The court closed the ease summarily, not permitting the Judge Advocate to introduce his meet important witnesses. General Thomas disapproved the findings, and administers a sharp rebulge to the members for their neglect of duty, and want of dignity as officers. The altered condition of Tennesses, in the judgment of General Thomas, does not require the re-arrest of Etheridge, and he is, therefore, set at liberty, and the court that tried him dissolved.
